

Hello, Gobble Up Vendors!

We are sorry to have to request more information from you so close to showtime, but the county is implementing some new procedures to verify food permitting this time around, and we'll need your prompt response on the form I'm including below.

On your application, you indicated whether:

- 1) You have already verified with the county that your product does not require a moderate or hazardous food permit
- 2) You already have the necessary permits to operate, from other events you do throughout the year
- 3) You would like to be included in our blanket permit

(If you can't remember what you entered on your application, please see your response on this document.)

On the form below you will need to upload one of three things:

- 1) If you have verified with the county that no additional permit is needed, they are now requesting official documentation of this from each of you. You will see a place to either upload your current exemption document, or to upload your completed copy of the exemption form attached to this email.
- 2) If you already have the necessary permits to operate from other events you do throughout the year, you will see a place to upload these permit number(s) for verification. You will also need to submit the Plan Review PDF, which you will find attached to this email.
- 3) If you've asked to be included in our blanket permit, we have already submitted that application to the county on your behalf, but we now still need you to also submit the Plan Review PDF, which you will find attached to this email.

Please do not submit these documents to us via email; instead use the form link above to upload these documents.

If you have any questions about the eligibility or status of your permit(s), I have CC'ed our inspector Ann Jackson here on this email and she can clarify for you what is required for your specific product, should you have any questions or confusion.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this!
